TRIPLE WIN FOR ROULETTE

THE GAME

The game begins with an invitation to place the bets with the standard phrase "place your bets". When the ball is deposited in the two side corridors in correspondence with the winning number, the dealer will announce the winning bets in the traditional sector. All bets on the TripleWin grid will be considered losers.

When the ball is deposited in the central corridor, the dealer will announce the winning bets in the traditional sector and the winning "TripleWin" bets.

The layout will then be "cleaned", collecting the losing chips and then proceeding with the payment of the winning bets.

The winning "TripleWin" bet will be paid out 105 times of the stake value.

The bets placed on the traditional section of the layout are considered winners whether the ball ends up in the central corridor or in the two side corridors.

THE CYLINDER

The cylinder is modified through appropriate processing of the disc that houses the numbered boxes. Each box consists of three corridors of equal size.

Therefore, for each pocket of the cylinder corresponding to a number, three positions are identified, reachable by the ball with identical probabilities.

Two different types of cylinders can be used:

- cylinder with 37 numbers (single 0) which therefore has a total of 111 positions
- cylinder with 38 numbers (double 0) which therefore has a total of 114 positions

LAYOUT

To allow an additional bet (TripleWin bet), the playing layout has an additional betting field, the TripleWin grid, consisting of 37/38 well-defined and identifiable spaces, where to place the chips.

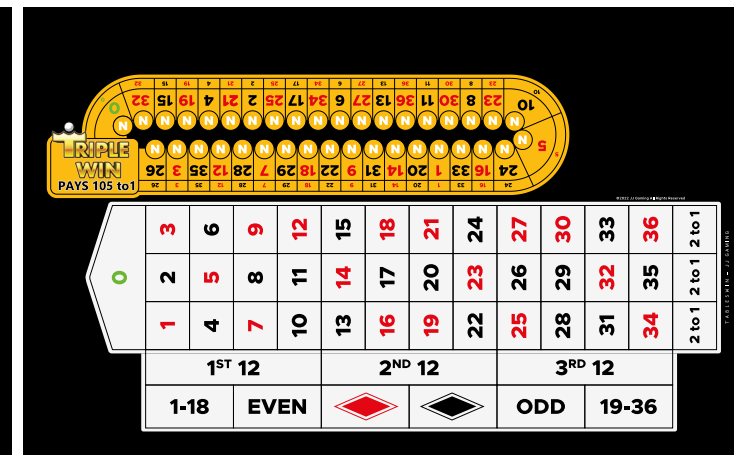

To place the TripleWin bet it is necessary to place the bet in the new playing field in one of the 37/38 circular spaces which corresponds to the 37/38 numbers of the cylinder.

The TripleWin bet will be considered a winner only when the ball finishes its run in the central corridor corresponding to the winning number and the stake will be paid 105 times.
